

Photography by Priscila

My name is Priscila Sanchez married to the love of my life Tony Sanchez. I am a wedding and lifestyle photographer based in Southern California. My goal as a photographer is to capture the true reflection of both of you as a couple in your special day. My job as a photographer is to capture your wedding's stolen kisses, joyful cheers, romantic glances, and life-long bonds. To capture the beautiful moment in your life of one chapter ending and another beginning.

I take time to get to know you as a couple to recognize the important details of your big day. I love hearing your vision for your wedding from getting ready to the walking down the aisle, from the first dance to grand exit. Your plans for the ceremony and your dreams to the reception are important for me.

In order to fulfill these expectations, I constantly strive on improving and fine-tuning my craft as a professional photographer. It is my great joy to offer you my passion and skills for photography and art, and to contribute in making your wedding a delightful and memorable event.
